What to Catalog?

For this project I want to make a visual catalog of all the top female protagonists in classic films ranging from the decades 80s, 90s, and 2000's. This will be a collection of the role models I looked up to growing up and shaped me as a woman.

Movies have always been one of my favorite pastimes and the characters within them have helped me navigate the obstacle of being a heroine in my own life.

Why Female Protagonists in Film?

I want this catalog to serve as a resource for other women to discover new films, but what I am most interested in is seeing just how many of these women are white. While this can serve as an aid and a platform for an already misrepresented group (women), I am most interested in seeing the bigger picture once all the images are placed together.

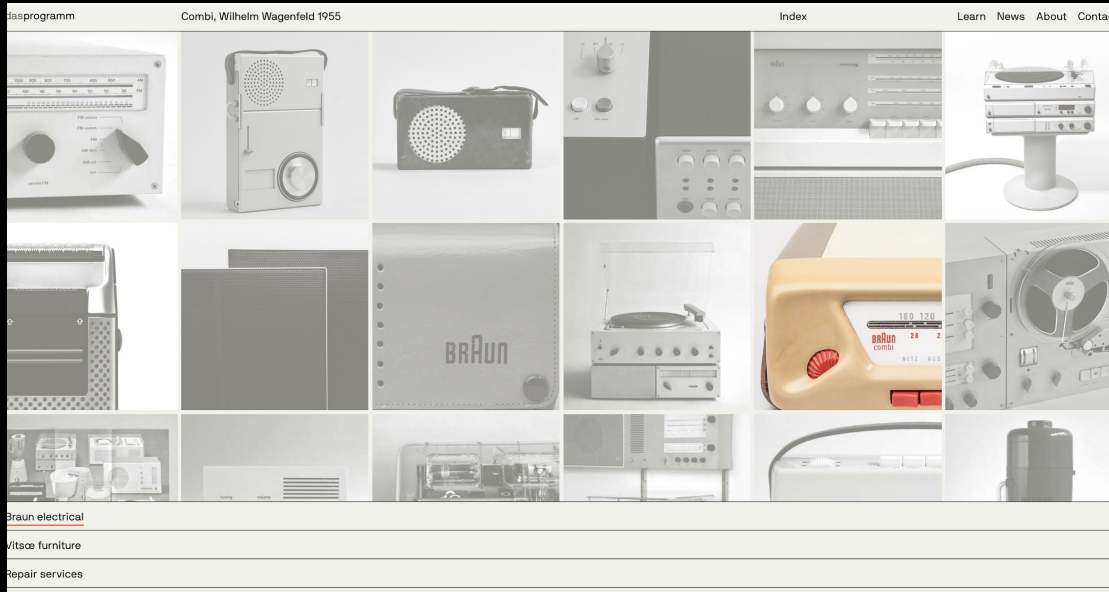

- How many of these women are white?
- How many of these women are the same?
- How old are these women?
- How are women typically portrayed in classic cinema?

Sketch #1

This sketch is a site split in two: by information about the archive and the archive itself. The archive is then organized by decade their very own photo collage. Each image will have an individual post page that details the specific character & film.

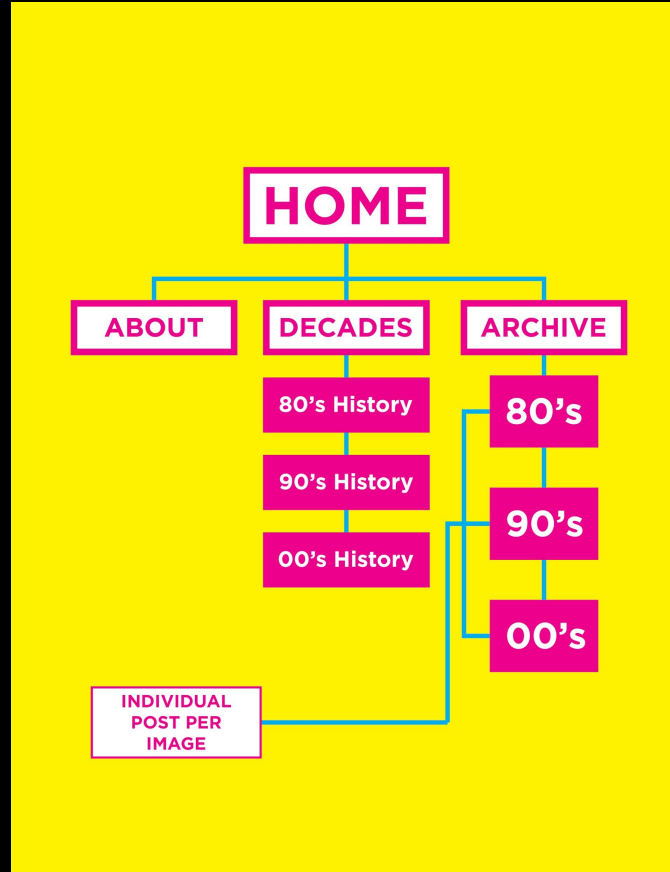

Sketch #2

This sketch is a site split into three (by decade). The home page would incorporate a description of the project rather than having its own page as seen in Sketch #1. Each image will have an individual post page that details the character & film.

Sketch #3

This sketch is a site split into three: about, decades, and archive. About will expand on the assignment. Decades will have a blurb about each decade and the films at the time. Archive will be a photo collage for each decade and each image will have an individual post page that details the specific character & film.
